Exploring Nature (Separation)

Summer is finally here, and in Minnesota we want to get out and enjoy it. We will discuss ways children can interact with the environment and enjoy the great outdoors. Research reveals that contact with nature is necessary for the healthy development of children and adults. This growing body of research links our mental, physical and spiritual health directly to our association with nature. Find out why we are becoming a "de-natured" society. This class will include at least one field trip to discover our community's natural spaces and activities that your children will love.

Wed | Jul 12, 19, 26; Aug 2 | 9-11am | Fee A | 318-118

Positive Parenting (Separation)

This class is for parents who want to focus on the positive by learning to guide and teach young children in ways that are kind but firm. We will explore what prompts children to behave in ways that are sometimes confusing. Based on the book Positive Discipline by Dr. Jane Nelsen, this class will help you learn the skills and tools necessary to decode children's behaviors and respond in ways that address them. Children will experience positive guidance in the classroom as they make new friends and enjoy activities.
